

LIFE IMPRISONMENT IS THE FATE OF LEO FRANK

Gov. Slater Commutes Sentence of Death of Alleged Slayer of Mary Phagan, and Frank Is Hurried to Prison Before Commutation Is Made Public—Remarkable Statement Made By Governor—End of Unusual Case.

By Associated Press.

Atlanta, Ga., June 21. — Leo Frank's death sentence was commuted to life imprisonment today by Governor Slaton.

Announcement of the governor's decision came several hours after Frank had been secretly taken from the jail here and hurried to the state prison farm at Milledgeville.

Frank was sentenced to be hanged here tomorrow for the murder of Mary Phagan in April, 1913. Governor Slaton at his country home made the following brief statement: "All that I ask is that the people of Georgia read my statement of the reasons why I commuted Leo M.

er before the State Prison Commission.

Petitions bearing hundreds of thousands of signatures from legislatures, societies and individuals, urging clemency for Frank, had been presented.

Frank's Council, prior to the clemency appeal, had made seven unsuccessful attempts in different courts, including the United States Supreme Court, to obtain some action. Four times the sentence of death was passed on Frank.

Although crowds on the streets discussing the Frank case did not appear so excited as the day wore on, the police ordered all near-beer saloons closed shortly after eleven o'clock and an extra hundred policemen were put on duty. Orders were issued to immediately arrest anyone attempting to incite violence.

In his statement exhaustively explaining his reasons for commuting Frank's sentence, Governor Slaton reviewed the circumstances surrounding the murder of Mary Phagan, the conviction of Frank and his appeal for clemency.

"The most startling and spectacular testimony in the case was that given by a negro, Jim Conley, who finished in the chain gang," the statement says.

Milledgeville, Ga., June 21.—At the Georgia prison farm, dressed in stripes denoting the lowest grade prisoner, Leo M. Frank today again protested his innocence of the murder of Mary Phagan and expressed a conviction "that a day is not far distant when I will be exonerated."

He expressed gratitude toward Governor Slaton.

Atlanta, Ga., June 21.—Shortly after noon a mass meeting was held at the capitol building with about 2,500 people in attendance. Several voiced their disapproval of the commutation. All of those at the meeting who could, later crowded into the hall of the House of Representatives, where other speakers mounted the rostrum.

MISUSE OF FLAG TO BE MENTIONED

Washington, June 21.—New representations to Great Britain on misuse of the American flag by English steamers probably will be made in the new note which is being prepared to deal further with interruption to neutral commerce.

At the State Department today it was said no official information was at hand on the German charge that the submarine U-29 was rammed and sunk by a British steamer flying the colors of Sweden. Officials feel, however, that misuse of neutral flags complicates the issue with Germany, and the new note will contain something on the subject.

WILLIS MAY USE BIG STICK

By Associated Press.

Columbus, June 21. — Governor Willis today appointed Frank Fauver, of Elyria, state superintendent of public works. Mr. Fauver is the present city engineer of Elyria. He will succeed John I. Miller, of Van Wert, who held the office by appointment of Governor Cox. The term is for one year and the salary is $4000.

Governor Willis may postpone his western trip for a few days or a week on account of pressure of appointments and the desire to out members of state commissions who have failed to comply with his request that they resign, the governor said today. He had intended to start tomorrow.

The governor accepted today the resignation of S. A. Hoskins and Charles I. Brown, members of the Civil Service Commission. After inspecting his morning mail and finding no other resignations, Governor Willis announced he might remain in Columbus this week.

SPIES MAKE USE OF BOMBS

By Associated Press.

Windsor, Ontario, June 21.—The overall factory of the Peabody Company, limited, located at Walkerville was partially wrecked by the explosion of a bomb early today. The company is said to have just completed an order of 115,000 British uniforms.

Shortly after the explosion 27 sticks of dynamite were found under the rear of the Windsor armory with a time fuse set for 3:15. The fuse had burned out. It is said that 200 men slept in the armory last night, and had the dynamite exploded it would have wrecked the whole building.

The head of the overall company said the bomb had been placed by "German sympathizers from Detroit." The property damage is estimated at between $5,000 and $10,000. Police and military authorities are investigating.

By Associated Press.

London, June 21.—Austro-German forces are closing in on Lemberg, capital of Galicia. The German War Office today announced the capture of Rawarska, 34 miles northwest of the city.

Emperor William, who has gone to the eastern front to direct the campaign, which his generals believe is near a successful conclusion, was present at one of the battles for possession of the Gredok line west of Lemberg.

Further successes in northwestern France, to the north of Arras, as well as in Lorraine and in the Vosges, were reported today by the French War Office.

In Lorraine the capture of the German first line positions for a distance of nearly a mile is claimed. The fighting here was of unusual violence, and it is said the German trenches were filled with dead.

Constantinople, June 21.—An official statement says the Turkish force on the Gallipoli peninsula took the offensive yesterday and inflicted heavy losses on the Franco-British left wing.

In consequence of the fire of Turkish artillery the allies were compelled to change their positions. The Turks directed an effective bombardment against the new positions and silenced the artillery of their opponents.

MANY TRUSTEES ARE HELD IN JOLIET PRISON MURDER CASE

By Associated Press.

Joliet, Ill., June 21. — A negro trusty, a product of the honor system among convicts at the state penitentiary, was held in solitary confinement today, pending investigation of the murder of Mrs. Edmund M. Allen, wife of the prison warden, whose body, fearfully burned, was found on a blazing bed in her apartments yesterday.

Joseph Campbell, convicted of killing a negro five years ago and serving an indeterminate sentence of from one year to life, was the convict under guard. He was the Allen's personal servant.

Physicians believe Mrs. Allen was burned to death while she lay unconscious on her bed, as her skull had been fractured by a blow which, physicians say, had not caused death. The bed had been sprinkled, it is believed, with wood alcohol.

Mrs. Allen was a former comic opera favorite, having been a member of the original Merry Widow company. Her husband was at West Baden, Ind., when the murder was committed.

Eleven convicts, including Campbell, are in solitary confinement in connection with the crime.

The first session of the coroner's inquest over the body of Mrs. Allen did not result in definitely fixing guilt, but it did nothing to divert suspicion from "Chicken Joe" Campbell. A bloodstained collar, recovered from a linen closet across the hall from Mrs. Allen's bedroom, figured in the testimony.

Campbell, who protested with tears that he was innocent, admitted in his cell that the collar was his, but said the blood stain was due to a slip of his razor.

U. S. LOSES BIG SUIT

By Associated Press.

Washington, June 21.—The government today lost its suit in the Supreme Court to forfeit the unsold portion of the Oregon and California railroad grants, amounting to some 2,300,000 acres and valued at more than $50,000,000. The railroad company was enjoined, however, from future sales in violation of the conditions of the grant and until Congress has a reasonable time to act.

RAILROADS LOSE SUIT

Washington, June 21.—In a far-reaching decision which crowns with victory the government's fight to compel the railroads to disassociate themselves from their coal companies the Supreme Court today ordered that the Lakawana railroad be enjoined from transporting coal of the Lakawana Coal Company under the so-called 1909 contract, and reversed a decision of the lower courts, which was against the government.

LEO M. FRANK.

Frank's death sentence to life imprisonment, before they pass judgment.

"Feeling as I do about his case, I would be a murderer if I allowed this man to hang. It means that I must live in obscurity the rest of my days but I would rather be plowing in a field than to feel for the rest of my life that I had that man's blood on my hands."

Governor Slaton was completing a long statement giving his reasons for his action, and this, he said, would be made public later.

The governor said he had ordered the prisoner removed to Milledgeville as a precaution against any demonstration. Frank's removal was secret and carefully planned and the prisoner was not identified until the party reached Macon on the train.

Frank was not handcuffed. Not even the superintendent of the prison farm had been notified that Frank would be taken there today. Mrs. Frank knew nothing of the move in advance, and Solicitor Dorsey, who prosecuted Frank, said he had not been informed of the plan.

When the reports of the commutation of Frank's sentence began to circulate, crowds gathered on the principal downtown streets. Police stopped all efforts at demonstrations. Comment disapproving of the decision was heard in the gathering.

It was stated that a delegation was coming here from Marietta, the former home of Mary Phagan. Two hearings had been held here on Frank's application for clemency, one before the governor and the other

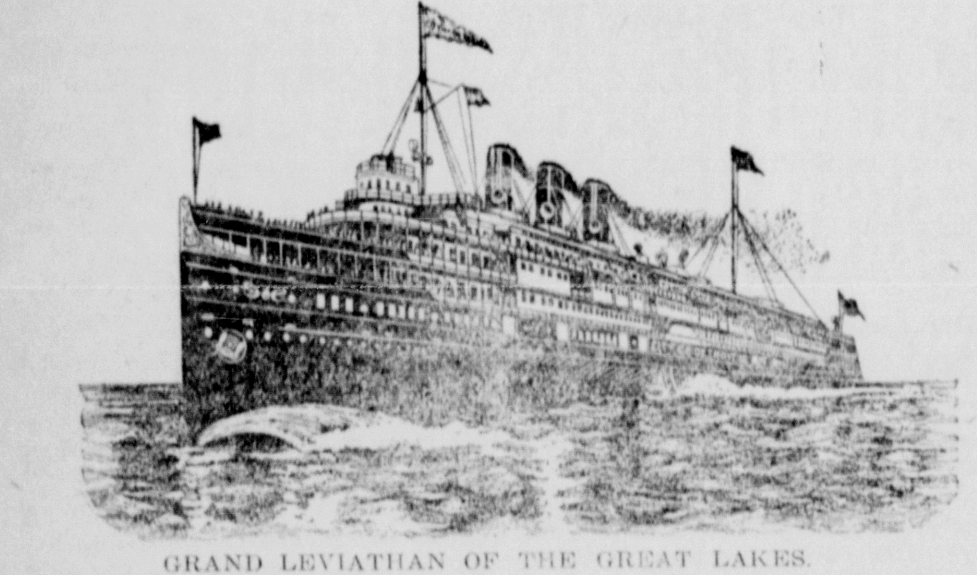

DAHL-MILLIKAN OUTING WILL BE ROYAL TREAT FOR LUCKY PATRONS

Special Vestibuled Train and Palatial Steamer Will Carry Patrons of Monster Wholesale Grocery Company to Many Noted Points of Interest.

DETROIT, BUFFALO, NIAGARA FALLS AND TORONTO INCLUDED IN TRIP THIS YEAR

Party Leaves Monday, July 12 and Returns Evening of July 16. After Enjoying Kingly Hospitality of Local Concern—Trip One of Constant Pleasure From Beginning to End, and Large Number Will Enjoy Excursion.

Once more the patrons of the Dahl-Millikan Company Branch of the Midland Grocery Company are eagerly anticipating the annual outing which has grown to be as indispensable an event of summer and vacation time as the Fourth of July. The Nineteenth Annual Outing, to be held the week of July 12th, will round up practically two decades of notable pleasure trips, each vying with the predecessor in elaborateness and added delights, until it would seem to be impossible to crowd into the 1915 outing week any further entertainment. But, somehow, by expert management and alert initiative, there is always something new and those patrons who have most often enjoyed these trips, yet find pulses quickened by some added feature and always out of the ordinary. Among the various outings no short trip seems to offer the same attraction as Niagara Falls and Toronto, the former with its unequalled beauty and grandeur; the latter immensely interesting and viewed after one of the finest lake rides in the world. Convinced that no other outing offers more of inducement the Dahl-

Millikan Company has again this year booked the Niagara Falls and Toronto, Canada trip, going by way of Detroit and Buffalo, and have completed most satisfactory arrangements that will insure the greatest outing and the most elaborate entertainment possible to offer. The management takes the utmost pride in showing appreciation of the loyal patronage given the mammoth wholesale grocery concern, by making the trip complete in every detail for the pleasure of its guests.

The party leaves this city by vestibuled train via C. H. & D. R. R., Monday morning, July 12th, for Detroit, Mich., where the Steamer City of Cleveland III, noted as one of the most palatial steamers on the lakes, will be in waiting for a wonderful twenty-mile moonlight ride down the Detroit river.

Arriving at Buffalo Tuesday morning the international railway trolley cars will carry the party on a sight seeing tour of Buffalo and on to the Falls. Luxuriantly quartered at the leading hotels of Niagara, the International and Cataract House, the next three days will be given over to dis-boating, fishing, dancing, merry-go-round, and other entertainments at Lake Ontario's new pleasure resort, Fort Niagara Beach—only one hour away. The Metropolitan Cabaret, dancing, Steve Young's colored orchestra direct from Reisenweber's New York city, the elaborate cuisine of the hotel—surely Niagara can provide plenty of entertainment. For Wednesday is planned the trip to Toronto, the grand climax of the outing. Special cars will line up in front

The return trip to the Falls in the evening will include the never-to-be forgotten sight of the 30-inch U. S. navy searchlight projector with 80,000 candle power, in reflected arc lamps continually changing color illuminating the Rapids and wonders of the Great Gorge. After another day and evening of diversified pleasure at the Falls the party is brought home under the same plan of the trip to Niagara, arriving here Friday afternoon at 4. A feature of both trips will be the serving of an elegant noonday luncheon on the train between Dayton and Detroit, by Mr. Shirecliffe, manager of the Dining Car Service of the C. H. & D., with its diner and able corps of trained waiters. Mr. William M. Campbell, vice-ducting it by Mr. B. A. Schadel, of the credit department, and a corps of efficient Dahl-Millikan salesmen. Mr. Heiland, of the C. H. & D. and B. & O., accompanies the party to personally look after the railroad part of the trip as heretofore. Handsome souvenir books have been put out by the company, giving every detail of the trip and beautifully illustrated. Plans are already being laid by the Dahl-Millikan Company for next year's outing.

The Dardanelles Still Closed

The allies, in the combined land and sea force campaign to open the Dardanelles are, seemingly, as far from the accomplishment of the aim of that campaign as they were weeks ago when the campaign was launched.

Great Britain and France have lost many of their best fighting ships and thousands of soldiers and marines have perished in the battles on the Gallipoli peninsula.

Thousands of tons of steel projectiles have been hurled from the battleships against the fortifications and thousands of tons of powder have gone up in smoke and noise and yet the frowning fortifications which are responsible for the Turks being in Europe, still stand grimly across the pathway over which Russia could reach the outside world.

That the campaign to open the Dardanelles has been a costly failure so far is too evident to admit of dispute.

If the allies are to make much progress against Germany in the offensive fighting it seems apparent that Russia must be able to join hands with France and Great Britain. The only way that that link in the allies chain can be forged is by the opening of the Dardanelles and that task will be difficult indeed, if not impossible, of accomplishment unless Bulgaria with her seasoned army of half a million takes the field with the allies. The allies cannot get an army into Turkey unless Bulgaria or some one of the other Balkan states will either furnish that army or permit an army of the allies to travel across their nation.

Bulgaria seems the key to the Dardanelles and the Dardanelles the sole salvation of Russia.

It is not surprising, therefore, that the bidding for Bulgaria's support is already interesting.

The Toy Traffic Indicators

Many of our citizens have been consumed with curiosity ever since the little toy sign boards planted in full grown barrels were raised aloft at the important Court street intersections Saturday.

Just where these little sign poles came from and who "wished" them onto the street is not definitely known and some people are afraid to trust themselves to find out.

There is no doubt that some sort of a traffic signal or directory at the busy street crossings in Washington would be quite proper, but this city is deserving of something more pretentious looking than the little black dwarfs at present timidly standing at the street crossings.

Aside from the fact that they are so small that the users of the streets on a busy day are very likely to fail to see them and run over them, and aside from the fact that they are black when they should be white and aside from the fact that no method of lighting them is provided and a few dozen other objections, the traffic indicators are all right.

That is, they are all right as far as they go, but they are about as useful in directing traffic in a city the size of Washington as an ordinary broom would be to change the course of the Mississippi river.

One thing is certain. The steel trust and the lumber trust are not behind a deal to sell the "posts" to the city.

Seriously though. Right now when Washington is making such splendid progress in the way of improvements, it's a shame for someone to come in here and stick those little "candelabra" affairs up in the head of a barrel and plant them on the street corners.

Let's get something in keeping with the city and the people and forget to consider these toys seriously.

The citizens have had a good laugh about the little sign posts, but the authorities should get them off the streets before the matter becomes too serious.

Illinois Fixes for New Market

The legislature of the state of Illinois has enacted a law which provides for the construction of a water way—a canal—from Chicago to the Mississippi river.

This means that Chicago is going to be ready to handle her share of the great commercial trade just on the eve of being opened, with South American republics and with Mexico when the time comes. It means that Chicago will become the great shipping point for all that vast territory which lies between the Allegheny and the Rocky Mountains and north of the Ohio River.

Chicago has not waited until the demand was here. Her progressive citizens have seen the demand coming and they are going to be "prepared" when it does come. The business men of the great city on the shores of Lake Michigan have not moped around and done nothing because conditions affecting some of their great industries have changed.

That's what makes Chicago great and that's why Chicago is growing every day.

That's why Cleveland has made such tremendous strides forward and why Cleveland is growing so rapidly that no one seriously denies the assertion of Clevelanders that the Forest City is now the fourth city in the land.

When the residents of a city devote all their time, energies and abilities to trying to maintain a failing business—a business which the progress of the people, intellectually and morally, has made impossible—then that city must go back.

THE SLAV.

The Slav arrayed himself at dawn
Beyond the torrent of the San.

"I'll stand awhile," he said at last,
"And then retreat before the blast."

"To draw them on—and on—and on
Is what I must depend upon."

"I have no guns, my powder's out—
I cannot hold the last redoubt."

"I only can appear to fight
And then resign myself to flight."

"Before me are the Teuton gains,
Behind me are my native plains."

"I'll lure them in—and in—and in—
And bid them follow with their din."

"I have no guns in all my ranks,
But better far my trusty shanks."

"They beat Napoleon in his prime,
And will beat any one in time."

"The German King and all his men
Must all get out, you know, again."

The Slav arrayed himself at dawn
Beyond the torrent of the San;

And seeing Germans, mile on mile,
He smiled himself an awful smile.

The Arms We Buy.

For a peaceful and peace loving nation statistics develop the fact that Americans and residents of this country purchase annually a vast number of firearms. One authority estimates that nearly half a million shotguns alone are sold and about 900,000,000 cartridges, of which more than half are used for hunting purposes of various kinds.—Argonaut.

Present methods of transforming the grasses of the public grazing lands into beef and mutton are generally conceded to be wasteful, and it is estimated that under a proper system the quantity of beef and mutton produced on these lands could be increased at least 50 per cent.

It was their first breakfast in their little flat after they had returned from the honeymoon trip. Lovey had asked Dovey to fix him a couple of soft boiled eggs. When the eggs were served Lovey opened one of them and found it to be as hard as a rock.

"Well, dear, they ought to be soft," replied Dovey. "I just boiled them and boiled them until I felt sure that they must be soft. But I only boiled them for twenty minutes. Perhaps I should have let them boil for a half hour."

LIGHTS FOR BATTLEFIELDS.

Our Army Officials Are Making a Study of the Newest Devices.

The secretary of war has directed the engineer corps of the United States army to make an exhaustive study of searchlights, flares, star bombs, and such other lights as the Europeans are now using in war.

According to the Army and Navy Journal, searchlights are for obvious reasons kept dark until the field artillery has ceased firing and the enemy is charging. To illuminate a field over which the enemy is to advance, star bombs and flares are also used.

Flares, which are merely modified fireworks, are like the familiar red, white and blue lights used in Fourth of July celebrations to illuminate streets and parks. Sappers go out in front of the trenches with flares, which are then connected with the headquarters of the officers in command of the first line, who by setting them off at intervals throughout the night can keep the battle front continually lighted.

Star bombs are also adaptations of modern fireworks. They are shot from mortars into the sky, where for twenty minutes they will give off an intense light over a wide circle of the surrounding country. Before one bomb dies out another is shot into the air. A kind of star bomb, shot into the sky like an ordinary rocket, is used by both armies for signaling at night.

It is with such lights as these that our own engineer corps is now conducting experiments at the barracks in Washington.

Alaska's Rivers and the Railroad.

The rivers of interior Alaska, of which the Yukon is the main artery, flow generally from east to west. The Yukon itself, from the point where it enters Alaska at Eagle to its outlet at the Bering sea, is more than 1,400 miles. It receives another 1,500 miles of navigable tributaries in the Tanana, the Chandlar, the Porcupine, the Koyukuk and the Innoko. The Kuskokwim, the second largest river in Alaska, has 600 miles of navigable water, with which the branch railroad through the Kuskokwim valley will connect at McGrath. In all, these rivers give 3,500 miles of navigable waterways in interior Alaska, besides water in Canada, ready made to serve as feeders for the government railroad the day it reaches Tanana, 412 miles from Seward, with the short branch to McGrath.

Substitute For Icebox.

The housewife who does not have an icebox or ice in the summer will find the following a very good plan for keeping food fresh: Place vegetables, butter, opened cans of milk, etc., in a deep basin with about two inches of cold water in the bottom. Take a piece of old linen, soak it in water, wring out and spread it over all that is in the basin. Let the four corners dip into the water. This keeps the cloth moist. Then place the basin near a window where the air can blow over it. This method will keep the temperature under the linen 7 or 8 degrees lower than the temperature outside.—Delineator.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

After Effects of Typhoid.

A study of 1,574 cases of typhoid fever shows that 146 died while under treatment, which is not quite one out of every ten. Of the 1,428 who recovered from the immediate effects of the disease the death rate for the first three years was nearly twice the normal death rate of a similar group of persons who had not had typhoid. As the cause of death among the patients who died following recovery from typhoid, tuberculosis heads the list, with a rate of 39 per cent; with diseases of the heart following, with a rate of 14.8 per cent. In other words, the chances for having tuberculosis are increased about three times in those who have recovered from typhoid, while the chances for heart diseases are about doubled. In the United States each year 8,000 deaths occur among persons who have recovered from an attack of typhoid fever, but who, as a result of impaired vitality from the disease, succumb during the first or second year after recovery. Besides lowering the vitality so that other diseases are not to be resisted, typhoid often leaves the patient maimed for life, and memory is frequently impaired. These considerations should bear an especial appeal to those who still tolerate flies and fly infected food and who have not yet made up their minds to be vaccinated against typhoid.

UNKNOWN MISCREANT FIRES UPON THE B. & O. BLUE FLIER

Two Bullets Sent Crashing Into Passenger Coaches of Eastbound Train on the B. & O. Last Night, as Train Was Passing Through Logtown--B. & O. Detectives Scouring Country for Guilty Party--Offense a Most Serious One.

A murderous attempt to kill passengers aboard the B. & O. Blue Flier, No. 106, due here at 10:53 p. m., was made Sunday night at the Lewis pike crossing, one mile east of this city, when two bullets of large calibre were sent crashing through the day coaches of the train as it thundered over the crossing at "Logtown," barely missing passengers aboard the train, and causing somewhat of a panic among the passengers on both the coaches.

The shots were evidently fired at close range, and this is probably all that saved the life of one or more passengers, as the balls ranged upward and passed over the points where the passengers heads would have been if the bullets had not entered the train at a sharp angle.

It is said that several passengers were sprinkled with broken glass as the balls crashed into the windows,

MRS. DOWLER IS NOT SEELIG'S GRANDMOTHER

Mrs. J. T. Dowler, from whom Hugh Seelig, 17-year-old youth stole a sum of money, rings, etc., recently, is not young Seelig's grandmother, as stated in Saturday's Herald.

The mistake grew out of the lad giving the wrong information following his arrest. He and his mother formerly made their homes with Mr. and Mrs. Dowler, and this led the youth in speaking of Mrs. Dowler, to call her "grandmother"—a right to which he was not entitled.

WIFEBEATER AGAIN IN LAW'S CLUTCHES

George Sharp, colored, of Delaware street, was arrested by the police Saturday night. He will face the mayor on a charge of wife-beating.

Sharp, sometime ago, was sent to the workhouse on the same charge. He was released recently, after serving part of his sentence, on parole. It will probably go hard with him this time.

CASE TAKEN UP MONDAY MORNING

In common pleas court, Monday morning, the case of The American Seeding Machine Company against A. S. Glascock, assignee, was taken up.

The case is being heard before the jury, with Judge Curtin presiding.

"GOPHER" SMITH IS WANTED AGAIN

"Gopher" Smith is again in demand in police circles and, being aware of the fact, is "lying low." Gopher, this time, stands accused of "beating up" Willard Johnson, late Sunday night.

Johnson says Smith "got him down" and pummeled his head with a brick. His head, swathed in bandages, he offered as evidence in procuring a warrant in the mayor's court Monday morning.

The trouble arose, it is said, when Smith accused Johnson of "telling things." As usual, there is a woman in the case.

500 MEN TAKE PART IN BIG UNION MEETING HELD SUNDAY

Nearly 200 Men of Greenfield Unite With Men's Bible Class of Grace Church in Memorable Gathering Yesterday--Oratory, Music and Good Fellowship Make Event a Pleasing One--Local Class Goes to Greenfield Next Sunday.

The union session of the Ergonian Men's Bible Class of Greenfield, and the Mills Gardner Memorial Men's Bible class of Grace church, Sunday afternoon, was not only the first meeting of its kind ever held in this city, but was a splendid success and thoroughly enjoyed, not only by the two big classes, but by members of the men's classes of the Presbyterian, First Baptist and the Christian churches, special invitations having been extended to the classes, and a large number of women and children.

The meeting was an inspiring one, with plenty of oratory, music and good fellowship. Nearly 500 men were seated in the main auditorium, which had been reserved in its entirety for the men, the others attending being seated in the balcony and Sunday school rooms.

The Greenfield class, with members of the other classes in Greenfield, made the trip to this city in 40 automobiles, and more than 50 men were left behind for lack of automobiles. In close order the machines came into the city and parked on North street, near the church, and as the long lines of men filed into the church members of the local class fell in with the visitors so that when all were seated the two classes were thoroughly intermingled. As the several hundred men filed into the vestibule of the church they were met by a committee of women of the church who pinned on small bouquets of crimson rambler roses, tied with white ribbon—the universal colors of Men's Bible Classes.

Never before has Grace church been more charmingly decorated. The rostrum, draped in white, was banked with crimson roses, with large vases of roses at either end and a beautiful floral design representing the universal Bible class button, in the center, and the national colors draping the stand behind the design. A large flag was displayed on one side of the rostrum. Potted roses were distributed about the church generally.

Judge T. N. Craig, president of the class, presided over the meeting. Following a song by the choir and congregation and prayer by Supt. Wm. McClain, Miss Edith Gardner delighted the audience with a vocal solo. A pleasing address of welcome was given by Rev. Ross, and a happy response made by Rev. F. M. Swinehart, of the Greenfield M. E. church. Editor Oscar White then delivered the main address, which was full of inspiration and food for deep thought. The Engonian quartette—thought of the very best ever appearing in this city, rendered several numbers, responding to encores.

Mr. James Kneisley favored the audience with a beautiful violin solo. Dr. Wm. Curtiss, president of the Presbyterian Men's Class in Greenfield, spoke for a few minutes, proving a very able speaker. The concluding number of the program was the singing of "America" by the entire audience.

After the benediction was pronounced the entire audience was directed to the church parlors where

EIGHT PERSONS LOSE LIVES IN THE SURF

Atlantic City, N. J., June 21.—Seven persons, all prominent, and a shore fisherman were drowned here, and 100 others were rescued only through the most gallant work ever witnessed along the beach, when storm currents, sweeping in from a storm center several miles off the coast, developed a sudden offset and caught bathers by the scores unawares.

The known dead are: Miss Marian R. Creamer, eighteen, daughter of James Creamer of Jenkintown, Pa.; John Lysle, Philadelphia, lawyer; Philip Arnold, eighteen, son of a Philadelphia clothing merchant; William Crow, forty-eight, Philadelphia; James McCay, fifty, florist, Philadelphia; Charles J. Matlock, Philadelphia; Frank Brigham, sixteen, son of Commodore Martin E. Brigham, Philadelphia; Captain Charles Green, forty-four, fisherman, Atlantic City.

The Philadelphians all lost their lives off Sovereign Avenue, Chelsea. Miss Creamer, who was a student at the Beechwood college, Jenkintown, had entered the surf with her brother, W. Roger Creamer of Philadelphia, a lawyer, when the storm currents caught them. They were swept apart and Mr. Creamer, in a brave fight, lost in his effort to reach his sister, who was swept out over the seas and flung out of sight under each smothering comb.

Mr. Lysle, a prominent member of the Philadelphia bar, had been standing on the beach in his bathing suit, talking with friends. He was the first to dash into the surf when Miss Creamer's cries were heard. Mr. Lysle gave his own life in the attempt.

Life Guard Walter Margerum, stationed at this point, dashed into the sea with his buoy. He brought in four unconscious bathers in clearing his path to the drowning girl. When he started out for the fifth time the guard was exhausted. He went down before he had battled clear of the second line of breakers. He was later washed ashore and rushed to the hospital, where he is now recovering.

By the time Life Guards John Zell and Irwin Craig arrived, there were twenty or more unconscious bathers floating around. They brought all they could reach ashore. Craig finally fell exhausted on the beach and was taken to the hospital.

As fast as the unconscious bathers were brought ashore, they were attended by surgeons. This kept the death list down.

One of the most gallant attempts at rescue, that proved futile, was that accomplished by Dr. John Coulter, who went out and started ashore with sixteen-year-old Frank Brigham, his brother-in-law. He finally reached shallow water to fall apparently dead in the surf. The boy was clinging to his neck. Before help reached him the boy had been washed away and the body is still missing. Dr. Coulter was revived.

Cleveland, June 21.—With the offer of $1,000 reward for information leading to arrest and conviction of the person who assaulted Charles Hibbs, a plumber, Jan. 28, 1915, the Cleveland chamber of commerce launched a crusade to break up thuggery in connection with labor disputes. This action followed an exhaustive study of conditions by a special chamber committee. MINISTER USES GUN

Cathoun, Ga., June 12.—Declaring he was avenging the dishonor of his daughter, Rev. W. W. Putnam, prominent Baptist minister, shot and killed Homer Taylor, a well-to-do young planter. Taylor was killed while driving in a buggy with his cousin, Thomas Harbin. According to Harbin, Putnam rode up and, crying to Taylor, "You have ruined my daughter," began firing. The first shot killed Taylor. Putnam then fired three more bullets into Taylor's corpse. "My father killed Mr. Taylor without cause," Miss Putnam said. Taylor was married some months ago. At one time he and Miss Putnam were engaged.

RUSS PLANTS BLOWN UP BY GERMAN SPIES

New York, June 21.—John F. Bass, war correspondent, of Chicago, who performed noteworthy work in the Boxer insurrection in China and later in the Philippine campaign, returned on the liner New York after ten months on Russia's eastern battle front, where he was slightly wounded in the back of the neck by shrapnel from a German shell. Mr. Bass said that the reports of the shortage of arms and ammunition in Russia were minimized rather than exaggerated.

Many armories and manufacturing plants in the interior of Russia, said Mr. Bass, which were stocked well with ammunition and arms at the beginning of the war, have been blown up by German spies, whose activity in that work has been facilitated by connivance with Russian military officers, themselves Germans or of German descent. Mr. Bass himself was in Petrograd, he asserted, when a large powder plant was destroyed by a German agent. "These spies," continued Mr. Bass, "maintain a regular system of communication throughout the empire, and a number of Russian officers are known to be implicated with them. While I was at Warsaw I saw one Russian officer hung for espionage. He was caught redhanded."

While at the front, Mr. Bass said, he frequently saw whole bodies of Russian troops, some of them newly recruited and trained, sent into the trenches without rifles and arms, ordered to take the discarded weapons of the killed and wounded and use them against the Germans.

NEXT MOVE OF DOOMED MAN

New York, June 21.—Mrs. Charles Becker had a lengthy talk with her husband in the death house at Sing Sing and came from the prison confident. She said that Becker is not preparing a lengthy report of his police experiences for Governor Whitman or anybody else. "The reason that he is not," Mrs. Becker said emphatically, "is that he has not any revelations to make." Mrs. Becker left the impression with her interviewers that an appeal will be made for commutation of sentence. She was not in a position to say just when her husband's counsel will present their plea at Albany.

VILLA IS TO SUBMIT HIS PEACE PLAN

Washington, June 21.—According to a dispatch from El Paso, the civil and military representatives of the Villa government will submit a plan for the pacification of Mexico to the Washington government, probably the latter part of this week. It is understood the plan has the approval of General Villa, that General Felipe Angeles is coming to Washington to represent the military and that Miguel Diaz Lombardo, foreign minister, will reach the border in a few days, en route to Washington to represent the conventionalist civil government.

Enrique C. Lorente, Washington representative of the Villa-Zapata government, said he had heard absolutely nothing of the movements of Angeles. The Carranza agency gave out a statement pointing out that Angeles probably never would return to Villa's standard. The statement was as follows:

"The Constitutionalist agency is informed that General Angeles and his staff arrived in Juarez, and it is reported that Angeles intends to take refuge in the United States. Part of his staff are in El Paso and part in Juarez, but, according to the message, all declare they will not return to the front. They are keeping themselves secluded from all except their intimate friends, and all admit that the recent defeat at Leon was a virtual annihilation of the Villista forces and that Villa's days are numbered."

Many officials seemed to take the view also that Angeles had left Villa because of personal differences which began shortly before the battle of Celaya, in which Villa lost the first important contest of his military career. He was without the services of Angeles then and rumors were current at the time of a personal disagreement.

With Angeles' move coming on the heels of the split between General Carranza and his commander-in-chief, General Obregon, some officials were encouraged to believe that out of the tangle might come a new alignment, comprising the best elements of the Carranza and Villa factions, forming an organization which might, if successful in dominating the situation, be accorded recognition by the United States.

RURAL U. S. MAIL SERVICE BY AUTO

Washington, June 21.—Rural mail service by automobile will begin on a large scale in many parts of the United States on Aug. 2. There are now 105 machines under order to carry United States mail along 5,500 miles of rural postroads daily except Sunday. The first dispatch of rural mails by automobile will be made July 1 on routes radiating from Quarryville, Pa. Surveys of special needs and conditions in every state are being made.

WIFE OF JOLIET WARDEN CREMATED

Joliet, Ill., June 21.—Mrs. Edmund M. Allen, wife of the warden of the Illinois penitentiary, was found dead in her blazing bed, and a committee is investigating the death to determine whether she accidentally set herself on fire or was slain and burned by George Campbell, a negro prisoner, who served the warden's family as a personal servant. Mr. Allen was absent on a trip to West Baden, Ind.

U. C. T. MEET THIS WEEK IN COLUMBUS

Columbus, June 21.—The supreme council of the United Commercial Travelers of America, which will meet in Columbus this week, commencing tomorrow, will have under consideration 128 proposed amendments to its constitution. OLEOMARGARINE HAS COME BACK INTO LIMELIGHT

Washington, June 21.—Commissioner of Internal Revenue Osborn has discovered widespread violations of the oleomargarine law extending over the last thirteen years, which have caused an estimated loss of revenue to the government of $27,000,000, according to an announcement from the treasury department.

The investigation made by Commissioner Osborn, it is announced, has disclosed that since 1902 more than 200,000,000 pounds of colored oleomargarine have been manufactured and sold as the uncolored product or as butter without the payment of the federal tax of 10 cents a pound. The treasury statement expresses the opinion that the vigorous investigation made by Commissioner Osborn, together with the series of prosecutions undertaken by the department of justice, have had the effect of checking the frauds.

Because of the cleverness of those who perpetrated the frauds little accurate information has been available as to the amount of revenues lost by the government on this account.

One factor, which it is believed has worked to prevent the full enforcement of the law, is the sentiment which has prevailed in some localities that the tax is far too drastic upon the manufacture of an article of food regarded as entirely wholesome. In some quarters the tax has been viewed as a "protective tariff" levied for the benefit of the farmers and dairymen.

OVERCOME OBSTACLES

Rome, June 21.—Details of the capture by the Italians of Plava, on the Isonzo, and the surrounding heights, made public by the war office, show that in this battle, the first general engagement of the campaign, the Italians fought with extraordinary bravery in face of almost insuperable obstacles. Barbed wire entanglements, hidden batteries, natural defenses, were powerless to hold back the invaders, who swept the Austrians out of position after position and finally forced them to precipitate flight. The Austrians are said to have shown themselves apparently unable to guard against surprise attacks, and the Italian advance has gone on unchecked, while the Austrian losses have been tremendous. It is reported that Emperor Francis Joseph has relieved General Dankl and General Rohr of their commands on the Tyrolean front and has threatened the commander-in-chief, Archduke Eugene, with the same fate if he allows Goritz to fall into the hands of the enemy.

CHICAGO AVIATOR RISES 6,496 FEET

New York, June 21.—Stevenson McGordon, the Chicago aviator, established a new American record at the Hempstead (L. I.) aviation fields by flying to a height of 6,496 feet with two passengers.

SUICIDES RATHER THAN SERVE TIME

Springfield, O., June 21.—Rather than serve a sentence in the workhouse, Mrs. Nora Holtz, nineteen, committed suicide by taking poison at the city prison, dying at the hospital.

FRENCH MAKE GOOD ADVANCE

Paris, June 21.—Another important gain by the French in the region to the north of Arras is announced in the official communique. After the capture of Le Fond-de-Buval the French delivered a new attack and succeeded in gaining an advance of one kilometer. The Germans made a desperate attempt to check the progress of the French troops, and after being forced to withdraw they continued to rain shells on their enemy's lines. The artillery duel in this region is still going on. Two lines of German trenches were captured on the heights of the Meuse, and further progress in Lorraine is also announced.

TEUTONS NEARING LEMBERG

London, June 21.—Emperor William has taken supreme command of the Galician campaign, establishing his headquarters at Pless, in southeastern Galicia, as near the front as practicable. The Teutonic allies, after seven weeks battering across Galicia, during which the Russians have been thrown back more than 150 miles, are now close to Lemberg.

Never perhaps since before the battle of the Marne have the Germanic armies appeared so confident of success. Having failed in their original plan of crushing France and then turning to Russia, they have reversed the order of their strategy and now, judging by the expenditure of life and ammunition in Galicia, they have pinned their whole faith to so paralyzing the Russian army as to permit of the throwing of a tremendous weight of men and metal into the western theater, there either to break through the Franco-British line or force an interminable period of sanguinary warfare.

Meanwhile the German official communication records the further progress of the Austro-German forces toward Lemberg, both to the north and south of the city. It claims, as well, that the Russians have been cleared from parts of the Dniester to the south.

Russians Retreating.
Near Lemberg, says the Berlin war office, the Austro-Germans, after a stubborn encounter, captured a succession of Russian trenches extending along almost the entire length of a twenty-two miles front. Three towns between Rawa Ruska and Lemberg have been stormed and, according to the German announcement, the Russians have been thrown behind the high road leading from Rawa Ruska to Zolkiew. Zolkiew is less than twenty miles almost due north of Lemberg.

It is reported officially from Vienna that the Russians are in general retreat along the entire front, after having been forced out of their position on the Werczyca river, a short distance west of Lemberg.

The great question England and her allies are asking is whether Grand Duke Nicholas, commanding the Russian forces, can successfully emulate Joffre's tactics of last fall and check the Austro-Germans at the gates of Lemberg.

Whether Russia has sufficient ammunition to meet the present strain is a question which can not be answered in England, although the London papers say frankly that the shortage is acute. One of the papers characterizes the situation in Galicia as "Russia's supreme emergency," and public interest is centered in that theater, notwithstanding the hard fighting in progress along the western front. The sound of guns is audible at Lemberg, and possibly this week will see the culmination of one of the most interesting phases of the great war.

A government bulletin recently issued shows that the American farm laborer is paid from four to six times the wages of his class in Europe. Well, he possibly and probably earns four to six times as much for his employer. Leaving out the relative difference in the market values of farm products here and in Europe, there is the question of methods of work. In most European countries women work in the fields, and where women work wages are low. But the European man laborer does not work like the American farmhand. In comparison American farm work is one continuous hustle, with longer hours and more physical wear and tear. Supply and demand regulate the price of farm labor, and the supply is often cut into by the demand for hands in the higher paid public and corporation work of construction, which in this era seems to be endless.

Tuesday, June 22—Christians vs. Presbyterians.

In former times when war was the chief business of mankind it used to be said that silver was the one essential shew to keep the thing going. It sometimes looks in Europe as though things most wanted, such as guns and shells and bullets, could not be had for money. However, in the long run "you can't beat money." That makes it interesting to know the national wealth of the countries involved or possibly to be involved in the world war. Estimates of the wealth of the principal nations, as gathered from the latest sources available at the present time, are as follows: United States, $187,000,000,000; Great Britain and Ireland, $85,000,000,000; Germany, $80,000,000,000; France, $65,000,000,000; Russia, $40,000,000,000; Austria-Hungary, $25,000,000,000; Italy, $20,000,000,000; Belgium, $9,000,000,000. These figures of national wealth are based upon the true valuation of real and personal property.

A mere schoolboy in the prairie country has proved that farming pays better than clerking if it is only done the right way. Last year this lad made a record which has just found its way into farming statistics. Or, a half acre he reaped a profit of $141 for a little less than one month's time by bad weather, sickness, etc., he still made big wages. It would not be wise for every ambitious boy to turn farmer, but no boy whose ambition runs that way should be deterred by the cry of the croakers that "Farming doesn't pay."

The figures recently issued showing the wealth of the United States are significant. American money is now the soundest and most desirable in the world. Of perhaps greater significance is the fact that this wealth, amounting to $187,000,000,000 is almost twenty-five times as large as it was two generations ago. While our population was growing five times the wealth was growing twenty-five times.

And there is no falling off in sight.

Another grievance due to the war is that Americans will be expected to tour the new battlefields after it's over and pay big tips to guides who were in the thick of it.

The educational effects of a tour in Europe will not be missed now that the great show on the continent is cut out of the annual program for Americans. Said effects were largely overrated by industrious press agents of steamship companies and tour promoters. Time was when the continent directly contributed to culture on this side of the water. That was before the days of great universities here, and almost every wideawake community had a representative in some foreign school. Young literary men went to Europe for a sojourn, learned one country well and came home to write and talk about it. Among these were Irving and Longfellow. Bayard Taylor traveled much in Europe, but also made his home there for a period. Advocates of European tours for young Americans then advised a residence there for two or more years. Living was cheap, and the growing man could not make a better investment than a short residence in Europe. To such the continent was a school, not a show place.

Exporters of wheat from the Argentine ports ship about 5,000,000 bushels of wheat weekly, sometimes a little more and sometimes a little less, and the exports since Aug. 1, 1914, have been 30,000,000 bushels more than a year ago, but 40,000,000 bushels less than two years ago. India is beginning to get into the wheat export procession, having shipped 96,000 bushels in the week ending May 1, and 440,000 in the week ending May 8. Our exports were nearly 2,000,000 bushels less in the week of May 8 than in the previous week. In the southwest our wheat harvest is at hand or soon due. There is no present prospect of any serious shortage in the world's supply of wheat, but there is every indication that the United States wheat growers will market a surplus even larger than that of last year at good prices.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

To Relieve Choking.

Children are more liable than older persons to suffer from choking. Children choke from swallowing marbles, small toys and most of all from irregular shaped pieces of candy. In most cases of choking a quick slap on the back between the shoulders will usually set the candy free. It is best to hold the child's head down and forward a little before administering the slap on the back. If the foreign substance cannot be removed by this method of treatment the mother should introduce her finger into the child's mouth, moving the finger gently backward along the side of the mouth over the base of the tongue. With the finger tip on the side of the mouth she may be able to catch and lift up the foreign substance. The finger pushed gently back into the throat will not injure the soft structures, and it may excite vomiting, which will expel the object.

If a child chokes on a fish bone the finger may be used to bring it out. A few swallows of mashed potato, soft bread or crusts or liquids swallowed rapidly will carry the bone down the throat. The food also acts as a covering for the bone and keeps it from injuring the soft tissues. Fish bones are readily dissolved in the stomach.

WILMINGTON WINS AGAIN; FANS SEE FAST EXHIBITION

The Wilmington Clintons scored another victory Sunday in their second game with the Athletics of the midsummer series of six games arranged a few weeks ago. The score was 2 to 0 and the game swift and exciting during every inning.

The game was played on the local grounds. The diamond and gardens were in prime condition and the weather ideal. Approximately 2,000 persons, far the largest crowd of the season, attended.

Cotterill pitched excellent ball but lost his own game. Wilmington got but two hits, each in a different inning, and scored through neither. Bases on balls, stealing and a wild throw by Cott to first gave the Clintons their tallies.

A strange feature of the game was the fact that one man, Frye, made both of Wilmington's scores and got his ticket to the first station each time on a walk. In fact Frye was walked three times out of four times up, and these three walks were all that Cotterill allowed during the game.

Frye scored in the first and ninth innings. He stole second each time, was advanced to third each time by sacrifice and came in home on a sacrifice when he made the first score. The second score he made when Cotterill threw Adams' grounder over Hagerty's head. The ball was recovered by Grandie, whose arm was not equal to the throw for home, and who threw to second instead.

Another odd fact was that the Clintons did not get a hit out of the diamond. Indeed the only ball they knocked out of the diamond was a foul to the left bleachers, which was speared in a sensational way by Noon when apparently right in the midst of the heads of the spectators. Wilmington's two hits were infield ground balls, the fielding of which was delayed.

The neatest little trick of the whole game was a delayed steal by Rhodes in the seventh. Rhodes had gained first base and was leading off several feet. Heironamus threw to Arthur too late to catch Rhodes. When Adams returned the ball to his pitcher Rhodes went down like a shot. Heironamus shot the ball to second but was too late to intercept Rhodes who arrived head first in a cloud of dust. Frye was peeved with the decision and in his wrath threw the ball to the ground. Rhodes then hit out for third. He was nailed at the third sack but made a good bid for it.

Another nice play was a double executed by Runnells unassisted.

Loaf Bread in England.

It is perhaps worth recalling that the art of baking loaves of bread was introduced into Europe quite late in history. Flat cakes were baked even in the earliest times, but as late as the beginning of the nineteenth century loaf bread was comparatively unknown in many parts of the continent. In 1812, for instance, when an English captain ordered loaves to the value of $5 in Gothenburg the baker stipulated for payment in advance on the ground that he would never be able to sell them in the city if they were left on his hands. — London Spectator.

It must be "America first," without so much as a mental reservation, else the loyalty given to this nation would not be pure and unadulterated. LIFE IMPRISONMENT IS THE FATE OF LEO FRANK

Gov. Slater Commutes Sentence of Death of Alleged Slayer of Mary Phagan, and Frank Is Hurried to Prison Before Commutation Is Made Public—Remarkable Statement Made By Governor—End of Unusual Case.

By Associated Press.

Atlanta, Ga., June 21. — Leo Frank's death sentence was commuted to life imprisonment today by Governor Slaton.

Announcement of the governor's decision came several hours after Frank had been secretly taken from the jail here and hurried to the state prison farm at Milledgeville.

Frank was sentenced to be hanged here tomorrow for the murder of Mary Phagan in April, 1913. Governor Slaton at his country home made the following brief statement:

"All that I ask is that the people of Georgia read my statement of the reasons why I commuted Leo M.

Frank before the State Prison Commission.

Petitions bearing hundreds of thousands of signatures from legislatures, societies and individuals, urging clemency for Frank, had been presented.

Frank's Council, prior to the clemency appeal, had made seven unsuccessful attempts in different courts, including the United States Supreme Court, to obtain some action. Four times the sentence of death was passed on Frank.

Although crowds on the streets discussing the Frank case did not appear so excited as the day wore on, the police ordered all near-beer saloons closed shortly after eleven o'clock and an extra hundred policemen were put on duty. Orders were issued to immediately arrest anyone attempting to incite violence.

In his statement exhaustively explaining his reasons for commuting Frank's sentence, Governor Slaton reviewed the circumstances surrounding the murder of Mary Phagan, the conviction of Frank and his appeal for clemency.

"The most startling and spectacular testimony in the case was that given by a negro, Jim Conley, who finished in the chain gang," the statement says.

Milledgeville, Ga., June 21.—At the Georgia prison farm, dressed in stripes denoting the lowest grade prisoner, Leo M. Frank today again protested his innocence of the murder of Mary Phagan and expressed a conviction "that a day is not far distant when I will be exonerated."

He expressed gratitude toward Governor Slaton.

Atlanta, Ga., June 21.—Shortly after noon a mass meeting was held at the capitol building with about 2,500 people in attendance. Several voiced their disapproval of the commutation. All of those at the meeting who could, later crowded into the hall of the House of Representatives, where other speakers mounted the rostrum.

MISUSE OF FLAG TO BE MENTIONED

Washington, June 21.—New representations to Great Britain on misuse of the American flag by English steamers probably will be made in the new note which is being prepared to deal further with interruption to neutral commerce.

At the State Department today it was said no official information was at hand on the German charge that the submarine U-29 was rammed and sunk by a British steamer flying the colors of Sweden. Officials feel, however, that misuse of neutral flags complicates the issue with Germany, and the new note will contain something on the subject.

WILLIS MAY USE BIG STICK

By Associated Press.

Columbus, June 21. — Governor Willis today appointed Frank Fauver, of Elyria, state superintendent of public works. Mr. Fauver is the present city engineer of Elyria. He will succeed John I. Miller, of Van Wert, who held the office by appointment of Governor Cox. The term is for one year and the salary is $4000.

Governor Willis may postpone his western trip for a few days or a week on account of pressure of appointments and the desire to out members of state commissions who have failed to comply with his request that they resign, the governor said today. He had intended to start tomorrow.

The governor accepted today the resignation of S. A. Hoskins and Charles I. Brown, members of the Civil Service Commission. After inspecting his morning mail and finding no other resignations, Governor Willis announced he might remain in Columbus this week.

SPIES MAKE USE OF BOMBS

By Associated Press.

Windsor, Ontario, June 21.—The overall factory of the Peabody Company, limited, located at Walkerville was partially wrecked by the explosion of a bomb early today. The company is said to have just completed an order of 115,000 British uniforms.

Shortly after the explosion 27 sticks of dynamite were found under the rear of the Windsor armory with a time fuse set for 3:15. The fuse had burned out. It is said that 200 men slept in the armory last night, and had the dynamite exploded it would have wrecked the whole building.

The head of the overall company said the bomb had been placed by "German sympathizers from Detroit." The property damage is estimated at between $5,000 and $10,000. Police and military authorities are investigating.

By Associated Press.

London, June 21.—Austro-German forces are closing in on Lemberg, capital of Galicia. The German War Office today announced the capture of Rawaruska, 34 miles northwest of the city.

Emperor William, who has gone to the eastern front to direct the campaign, which his generals believe is near a successful conclusion, was present at one of the battles for possession of the Grodek line west of Lemberg.

Further successes in northwestern France, to the north of Arras, as well as in Lorraine and in the Vosges, were reported today by the French War Office.

In Lorraine the capture of the German first line positions for a distance of nearly a mile is claimed. The fighting here was of unusual violence, and it is said the German trenches were filled with dead.

Constantinople, June 21.—An official statement says the Turkish force on the Gallipoli peninsula took the offensive yesterday and inflicted heavy losses on the Franco-British left wing.

In consequence of the fire of Turkish artillery the allies were compelled to change their positions. The Turks directed an effective bombardment against the new positions and silenced the artillery of their opponents.

MANY TRUSTEES ARE HELD IN JOLIET PRISON MURDER CASE

By Associated Press.

Joliet, Ill., June 21. — A negro trusty, a product of the honor system among convicts at the state penitentiary, was held in solitary confinement today, pending investigation of the murder of Mrs. Edmund M. Allen, wife of the prison warden, whose body, fearfully burned, was found on a blazing bed in her apartments yesterday.

Joseph Campbell, convicted of killing a negro five years ago and serving an indeterminate sentence of from one year to life, was the convict under guard. He was the Allen's personal servant.

Physicians believe Mrs. Allen was burned to death while she lay unconscious on her bed, as her skull had been fractured by a blow which, physicians say, had not caused death. The bed had been sprinkled, it is believed, with wood alcohol.

Mrs. Allen was a former comic opera favorite, having been a member of the original Merry Widow company. Her husband was at West Baden, Ind., when the murder was committed.

Eleven convicts, including Campbell, are in solitary confinement in connection with the crime.

The first session of the coroner's inquest over the body of Mrs. Allen did not result in definitely fixing guilt, but it did nothing to divert suspicion from "Chicken Joe" Campbell. A bloodstained collar, recovered from a linen closet across the hall from Mrs. Allen's bedroom, figured in the testimony.

Campbell, who protested with tears that he was innocent, admitted in his cell that the collar was his, but said the blood stain was due to a slip of his razor.

U. S. LOSES BIG SUIT

By Associated Press.

Washington, June 21.—The government today lost its suit in the Supreme Court to forfeit the unsold portion of the Oregon and California railroad grants, amounting to some 2,300,000 acres and valued at more than $50,000,000. The railroad company was enjoined, however, from future sales in violation of the conditions of the grant and until Congress has a reasonable time to act.

RAILROADS LOSE SUIT

By Associated Press.

Washington, June 21.—In a far-reaching decision which crowns with victory the government's fight to compel the railroads to disassociate themselves from their coal companies the Supreme Court today ordered that the Lakawana railroad be enjoined from transporting coal of the Lakawana Coal Company under the so-called 1909 contract, and reversed a decision of the lower courts, which was against the government.

LEO M. FRANK.

Frank's death sentence to life imprisonment, before they pass judgment.

"Feeling as I do about his case, I would be a murderer if I allowed this man to hang. It means that I must live in obscurity the rest of my days but I would rather be plowing in a field than to feel for the rest of my life that I had that man's blood on my hands."

Governor Slaton was completing a long statement giving his reasons for his action, and this, he said, would be made public later.

The governor said he had ordered the prisoner removed to Milledgeville as a precaution against any demonstration. Frank's removal was secret and carefully planned and the prisoner was not identified until the party reached Macon on the train.

Frank was not handcuffed. Not even the superintendent of the prison farm had been notified that Frank would be taken there today. Mrs. Frank knew nothing of the move in advance, and Solicitor Dorsey, who prosecuted Frank, said he had not been informed of the plan.

When the reports of the commutation of Frank's sentence began to circulate, crowds gathered on the principal downtown streets. Police stopped all efforts at demonstrations. Comment disapproving the decision was heard in the gathering.

It was stated that a delegation was coming here from Marietta, the former home of Mary Phagan. Two hearings had held here on Frank's application for clemency, one before the governor and the other

The Dardanelles Still Closed

The allies, in the combined land and sea force campaign to open the Dardanelles are, seemingly, as far from the accomplishment of the aim of that campaign as they were weeks ago when the campaign was launched.

Great Britain and France have lost many of their best fighting ships and thousands of soldiers and marines have perished in the battles on the Gallipoli peninsula.

Thousands of tons of steel projectiles have been hurled from the battleships against the fortifications and thousands of tons of powder have gone up in smoke and noise and yet the frowning fortifications which are responsible for the Turks being in Europe, still stand grimly across the pathway over which Russia could reach the outside world.

That the campaign to open the Dardanelles has been a costly failure so far is too evident to admit of dispute.

If the allies are to make much progress against Germany in the offensive fighting it seems apparent that Russia must be able to join hands with France and Great Britain. The only way that that link in the allies chain can be forged is by the opening of the Dardanelles and that task will be difficult indeed, if not impossible, of accomplishment unless Bulgaria with her seasoned army of half a million takes the field with the allies. The allies cannot get an army into Turkey unless Bulgaria or some one of the other Balkan states will either furnish that army or permit an army of the allies to travel across their nation.

Bulgaria seems the key to the Dardanelles and the Dardanelles the sole salvation of Russia.

It is not surprising, therefore, that the bidding for Bulgaria's support is already interesting.

The Toy Traffic Indicators

Many of our citizens have been consumed with curiosity ever since the little toy sign boards planted in full grown barrels were raised aloft at the important Court street intersections Saturday.

Just where these little sign poles came from and who "wished" them onto the street is not definitely known and some people are afraid to trust themselves to find out.

There is no doubt that some sort of a traffic signal or directory at the busy street crossings in Washington would be quite proper, but this city is deserving of something more pretentious looking than the little black dwarfs at present timidly standing at the street crossings.

Aside from the fact that they are so small that the users of the streets on a busy day are very likely to fail to see them and run over them, and aside from the fact that they are black when they should be white and aside from the fact that no method of lighting them is provided and a few dozen other objections, the traffic indicators are all right.

That is, they are all right as far as they go, but they are about as useful in directing traffic in a city the size of Washington as an ordinary broom would be to change the course of the Mississippi river.

One thing is certain. The steel trust and the lumber trust are not behind a deal to sell the "posts" to the city.

Seriously though. Right now when Washington is making such splendid progress in the way of improvements, it's a shame for someone to come in here and stick those little "candelabra" affairs up in the head of a barrel and plant them on the street corners.

Let's get something in keeping with the city and the people and forget to consider these toys seriously.

The citizens have had a good laugh about the little sign posts, but the authorities should get them off the streets before the matter becomes too serious.

Illinois Fixes for New Market

The legislature of the state of Illinois has enacted a law which provides for the construction of a water way—a canal—from Chicago to the Mississippi river.

This means that Chicago is going to be ready to handle her share of the great commercial trade just on the eve of being opened, with South American republics and with Mexico when the time comes. It means that Chicago will become the great shipping point for all that vast territory which lies between the Allegheny and the Rocky Mountains and north of the Ohio River.

Chicago has not waited until the demand was here. Her progressive citizens have seen the demand coming and they are going to be "prepared" when it does come. The business men of the great city on the shores of Lake Michigan have not moped around and done nothing because conditions affecting some of their great industries have changed.

That's what makes Chicago great and that's why Chicago is growing every day.

That's why Cleveland has made such tremendous strides forward and why Cleveland is growing so rapidly that no one seriously denies the assertion of Clevelanders that the Forest City is now the fourth city in the land.

When the residents of a city devote all their time, energies and abilities to trying to maintain a failing business—a business which the progress of the people, intellectually and morally, has made impossible—then that city must go back.

Poetry For Today

THE SLAV.

The Slav arrayed himself at dawn
Beyond the torrent of the San.

"I'll stand awhile," he said at last,
"And then retreat before the blast."

"To draw them on—and on—and on
Is what I must depend upon."

"I have no guns, my powder's out—
I cannot hold the last redoubt."

"I only can appear to fight
And then resign myself to flight."

"Before me are the Teuton gains,
Behind me are my native plains."

"I'll lure them in—and in—and in—
And bid them follow with their din."

"I have no guns in all my ranks,
But better far my trusty shanks."

"They beat Napoleon in his prime,
And will beat any one in time."

"The German King and all his men
Must all get out, you know, again."

The Slav arrayed himself at dawn
Beyond the torrent of the San;

And seeing Germans, mile on mile,
He smiled himself an awful smile.

The Arms We Buy.

For a peaceful and peace loving nation statistics develop the fact that Americans and residents of this country purchase annually a vast number of firearms. One authority estimates that nearly half a million shotguns alone are sold and about 900,000,000 cartridges, of which more than half are used for hunting purposes of various kinds.—Argonaut.

Grazing Lands.

Present methods of transforming the grasses of the public grazing lands into beef and mutton are generally conceded to be wasteful, and it is estimated that under a proper system the quantity of beef and mutton produced on these lands could be increased at least 50 per cent.

Getting Them Soft.

It was their first breakfast in their little flat after they had returned from the honeymoon trip. Lovey had asked Dovey to fix him a couple of soft-boiled eggs. When the eggs were served Lovey opened one of them and found it to be as hard as a rock.

"These eggs are very hard," exclaimed Lovey. "I wanted them boiled soft."

"Well, dear, they ought to be soft," replied Dovey. "I just boiled them and boiled them until I felt sure that they must be soft. But I only boiled them for twenty minutes. Perhaps I should have let them boil for a half hour."

LIGHTS FOR BATTLEFIELDS.

Our Army Officials Are Making a Study of the Newest Devices.

The secretary of war has directed the engineer corps of the United States army to make an exhaustive study of searchlights, flares, star bombs, and such other lights as the Europeans are now using in war.

According to the Army and Navy Journal, searchlights are for obvious reasons kept dark until the field artillery has ceased firing and the enemy is changing. To illuminate a field over which the enemy is to advance, star bombs and flares are also used.

Flares, which are merely modified fireworks, are like the familiar red, white and blue lights used in Fourth of July celebrations to illuminate streets and parks. Sappers go out in front of the trenches with flares, which are then connected with the headquarters of the officers in command of the first line, who by setting them off at intervals throughout the night can keep the battle front continually lighted.

Star bombs are also adaptations of modern fireworks. They are shot from mortars into the sky, where for twenty minutes they will give off an intense light over a wide circle of the surrounding country. Before one bomb dies out another is shot into the air. A kind of star bomb, shot into the sky like an ordinary rocket, is used by both armies for signaling at night.

It is with such lights as these that our own engineer corps is now conducting experiments at the barracks in Washington.

Alaska's Rivers and the Railroad.

The rivers of interior Alaska, of which the Yukon is the main artery, flow generally from east to west. The Yukon itself, from the point where it enters Alaska at Eagle to its outlet at the Bering sea, is more than 1,400 miles. It receives another 1,500 miles of navigable tributaries in the Tanana, the Chandler, the Porcupine, the Koyukuk and the Innoko. The Kuskokwim, the second largest river in Alaska, has 600 miles of navigable water, with which the branch railroad through the Kuskokwim valley will connect at McGrath. In all, these rivers give 3,500 miles of navigable waterways in interior Alaska, besides waters in Canada, ready made to serve as feeders for the government railroad the day it reaches Tanana, 412 miles from Seward, with the short branch to McGrath.

Substitute For Icebox.

The housewife who does not have an icebox or ice in the summer will find the following a very good plan for keeping food fresh: Place vegetables, butter, opened cans of milk, etc., in a deep basin with about two inches of cold water in the bottom. Take a piece of old linen, soak it in water, wring out and spread it over all that is in the basin. Let the four corners dip into the water. This keeps the cloth moist. Then place the basin near a window where the air can blow over it. This method will keep the temperature under the linen 7 or 8 degrees lower than the temperature outside.—Delineator.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

After Effects of Typhoid.

A study of 1,574 cases of typhoid fever shows that 146 died while under treatment, which is not quite one out of every ten. Of the 1,428 who recovered from the immediate effects of the disease the death rate for the first three years was nearly twice the normal death rate of a similar group of persons who had not had typhoid. As the cause of death among the patients who died following recovery from typhoid, tuberculosis heads the list, with a rate of 39 per cent; with diseases of the heart following, with a rate of 14.8 per cent. In other words, the chances for having tuberculosis are increased about three times in those who have recovered from typhoid, while the chances for heart diseases are about doubled. In the United States each year 8,000 deaths occur among persons who have recovered from an attack of typhoid fever, but who, as a result of impaired vitality from the disease, succumb during the first or second year after recovery. Besides lowering the vitality so that other diseases are not to be resisted, typhoid often leaves the patient maimed for life, and memory is frequently impaired. These considerations should bear an especial appeal to those who still tolerate flies and fly infected food and who have not yet made up their minds to be vaccinated against typhoid.

UNKNOWN MISCREANT FIRES UPON THE B. & O. BLUE FLIER

Two Bullets Sent Crashing Into Passenger Coaches of Eastbound Train on the B. & O. Last Night, as Train Was Passing Through Logtown--B. & O. Detectives Scouring Country for Guilty Party--Offense a Most Serious One.

A murderous attempt to kill passengers aboard the B. & O. Blue Flier, No. 106, due here at 10:53 p. m., was made Sunday night at the Lewis pike crossing, one mile east of this city, when two bullets of large calibre were sent crashing through the day coaches of the train as it thundered over the crossing at "Logtown," barely missing passengers aboard the train, and causing somewhat of a panic among the passengers on both the coaches.

The shots were evidently fired at close range, and this is probably all that saved the life of one or more passengers, as the balls ranged upward and passed over the points where the passengers heads would have been if the bullets had not entered the train at a sharp angle.

It is said that several passengers were sprinkled with broken glass as the balls crashed into the windows, but, so far as is known, no one was injured.

Soon after the murderous assault was made word was wired back to be on the lookout for the miscreant who wielded the gun, and B. & O. detectives were dispatched to this city as soon as possible and have been making a careful search for the man who fired the shots.

If the fellow is apprehended, a long term of years in the Ohio penitentiary will probably be his fate, as the laws governing the firing upon a train are very strict, and long prison terms are provided where no one is killed or wounded, and plain murder charges filed where a shot causes death.

What reason the person could have had for firing upon the train, is a mystery.

The company will spare no expense or efforts to run down and punish the guilty party.

MRS. DOWLER IS NOT SEELIG'S GRANDMOTHER

Mrs. J. T. Dowler, from whom Hugh Seelig, 17-year-old youth stole a sum of money, rings, etc., recently, is not young Seelig's grandmother, as stated in Saturday's Herald.

The mistake grew out of the lad giving the wrong information following his arrest. He and his mother formerly made their homes with Mr. and Mrs. Dowler, and this led the youth in speaking of Mrs. Dowler, to call her "grandmother"—a right to which he was not entitled.

"Gopher" Smith is again in demand in police circles and, being aware of the fact, is "lying low." Gopher, this time, stands accused of "beating up" Willard Johnson, late Sunday night.

The trouble arose, it is said, when Smith accused Johnson of "telling things." As usual, there is a woman in the case.

500 MEN TAKE PART IN BIG UNION MEETING HELD SUNDAY

Nearly 200 Men of Greenfield Unite With Men's Bible Class of Grace Church in Memorable Gathering Yesterday—Oratory, Music and Good Fellowship Make Event a Pleasing One--Local Class Goes to Greenfield Next Sunday.

The union session of the Ergonian Men's Bible Class of Greenfield, and the Mills Gardner Memorial Men's Bible class of Grace church, Sunday afternoon, was not only the first meeting of its kind ever held in this city, but was a splendid success and thoroughly enjoyed, not only by the two big classes, but by members of the men's classes of the Presbyterian, First Baptist and the Christian churches, special invitations having been extended to the classes, and a large number of women and children.

The meeting was an inspiring one, with plenty of oratory, music and good fellowship. Nearly 500 men were seated in the main auditorium, which had been reserved in its entirety for the men, the others attending being seated in the balcony and Sunday school rooms.

The Greenfield class, with members of the other classes in Greenfield, made the trip to this city in 40 automobiles, and more than 50 men were left behind for lack of automobiles. In close order the machines came into the city and parked on North street, near the church, and as the long lines of men filed into the church members of the local class fell in with the visitors so that when all were seated the two classes were thoroughly intermingled. As the several hundred men filed into the vestibule of the church they were met by a committee of women of the church who pinned on small bouquets of crimson rambler roses, tied with white ribbon—the universal colors of Men's Bible Classes.

Never before has Grace church been more charmingly decorated. The rostrum, draped in white, was banked with crimson roses, with large vases of roses at either end and a beautiful floral design representing the universal Bible class button, in the center, and the national colors draping the stand behind the design. A large flag was displayed on one side of the rostrum. Potted roses were distributed about the church generally.

Judge T. N. Craig, president of the class, presided over the meeting. Following a song by the choir and congregation and prayer by Supt. Wm. McClain, Miss Edith Gardner delighted the audience with a vocal solo. A pleasing address of welcome was given by Rev. Ross, and a happy response made by Rev. F. M. Swinehart, of the Greenfield M. E. church. Editor Oscar White then delivered the main address, which was full of inspiration and food for deep thought. The Ergonian quartette—one of the very best ever appearing in this city, rendered several numbers, responding to encores.

Mr. James Kneisley favored the audience with a beautiful violin solo. Dr. Wm. Curtiss, president of the Presbyterian Men's Class in Greenfield, spoke for a few minutes, proving a very able speaker. The concluding number of the program was the singing of "America" by the entire audience.

After the benediction was pronounced the entire audience was directed to the church parlors where delicious punch and wafers were served to all, and a social half-hour was enjoyed before good-byes were said and the visitors took their departure, expressing the hope of meeting all members in Greenfield next Sunday afternoon. Nearly 200 Greenfielders were in the party.

In their part of the program the visitors certainly "Made Good" in the fullest sense of the term.

Next Sunday at one o'clock the Men's Class of Grace church will leave this city by auto for Greenfield, and every member of the class is urged to go. The committee has automobiles for more than 150 at the present time, and expects to obtain autos for 50 to 100 more by next Sunday.

PLENTY OF PUNCH BEHIND THE SERMON

Everybody enjoys a sermon or address which has plenty of punch behind it. But the audience which attended the evening services at Grace church Sunday, not only enjoyed such a sermon delivered by Rev. Ross on "The War and Afterwards," but enjoyed all of the delicious punch they could drink.

The unusual departure of refreshments after services came about as a result of some 20 gallons of delicious punch remaining after the big audience had been served during the afternoon meeting.

Crimson ramblers decked the interior of the home, while the moonlit lawn strung with Japanese lanterns, enjoyed its full share of popularity.

Creating merriment galore was a "Penny Walking Party," an entirely novel diversion. Miss Lemley and Mr. James McDonald won the first prize, a box of bon bons, and Miss Swope and Paul Hughey the consolation.

A summer refection was informally served.

CRAIG BROS

EIGHT PERSONS LOSE LIVES IN THE SURF

Atlantic City, N. J., June 21.—Seven persons, all prominent, and a shore fisherman were drowned here, and 100 others were rescued only through the most gallant work ever witnessed along the beach, when storm currents, sweeping in from a storm center several miles off the coast, developed a sudden offset and caught bathers by the scores unawares.

The known dead are: Miss Marian R. Creamer, eighteen, daughter of James Creamer of Jenkintown, Pa.; John Lysle, Philadelphia, lawyer; Philip Arnold, eighteen, son of a Philadelphia clothing merchant; William Crow, forty-eight, Philadelphia; James McCay, fifty, florist, Philadelphia; Charles J. Matlock, Philadelphia; Frank Brigham, sixteen, son of Commodore Martin E. Brigham, Philadelphia; Captain Charles Green, forty-four, fisherman, Atlantic City.

The Philadelphians all lost their lives off Sovereign Avenue, Chelsea. Miss Creamer, who was a student at the Beechwood college, Jenkintown, had entered the surf with her brother, W. Roger Creamer of Philadelphia, a lawyer, when the storm currents caught them. They were swept apart and Mr. Creamer, in a brave fight, lost in his effort to reach his sister, who was swept out over the seas and flung out of sight under each smothering comb.

Mr. Lysle, a prominent member of the Philadelphia bar, had been standing on the beach in his bathing suit, talking with friends. He was the first to dash into the surf when Miss Creamer's cries were heard. Mr. Lysle gave his own life in the attempt.

Life Guard Walter Margerum, stationed at this point, dashed into the sea with his buoy. He brought in four unconscious bathers in clearing his path to the drowning girl. When he started out for the fifth time the guard was exhausted. He went down before he had battled clear of the second line of breakers. He was later washed ashore and rushed to the hospital, where he is now recovering.

By the time Life Guards John Zell and Irwin Craig arrived, there were twenty or more unconscious bathers floating around. They brought all they could reach ashore. Craig finally fell exhausted on the beach and was taken to the hospital.

As fast as the unconscious bathers were brought ashore, they were used by surgeons. This kept the death list down.

One of the most gallant attempts at rescue, that proved futile, was that accomplished by Dr. John Coulter, who went out and started ashore with sixteen-year-old Frank Brigham, his brother-in-law. He finally reached shallow water to fall apparently dead in the surf. The boy was clinging to his neck. Before help reached him the boy had been washed away and the body is still missing. Dr. Coulter was revived.

This action followed an exhaustive study of conditions by a special chamber committee. Its report finds that Cleveland is being given a reputation as an "unsafe place for union or nonunion men to work in."

MINISTER USES GUN

Calhoun, Ga., June 21.—Declaring he was avenging the dishonor of his daughter, Rev. W. W. Putnam, prominent Baptist minister, shot and killed Homer Taylor, a well-to-do young planter, Taylor was killed while driving in a buggy with his cousin, Thomas Harbin. According to Harbin, Putnam rode up and, crying to Taylor "You have ruined my daughter," began firing. The first shot killed Taylor. Putnam then fired three more bullets into Taylor's corpse. "My father killed Mr. Taylor without cause," Miss Putnam said. Taylor was married some months ago. At one time he and Miss Putnam were engaged.

RUSS PLANTS BLOWN UP BY GERMAN SPIES

New York, June 21.—John F. Bass, war correspondent, of Chicago, who performed noteworthy work in the Boxer insurrection in China and later in the Philippine campaign, returned on the liner New York after ten months on Russia's eastern battle front, where he was slightly wounded in the back of the neck by shrapnel from a German shell. Mr. Bass said that the reports of the shortage of arms and ammunition in Russia were minimized rather than exaggerated.

Many armories and manufacturing plants in the interior of Russia, said Mr. Bass, which were stocked well with ammunition and arms at the beginning of the war, have been blown up by German spies, whose activity in that work has been facilitated by connivance with Russian military officers, themselves Germans or of German descent. Mr. Bass himself was in Petrograd, he asserted, when a large powder plant was destroyed by a German agent. "These spies," continued Mr. Bass, "maintain a regular system of communication throughout the empire, and a number of Russian officers are known to be implicated with them. While I was at Warsaw I saw one Russian officer hung for espionage. He was caught redhanded."

While at the front, Mr. Bass said, he frequently saw whole bodies of Russian troops, some of them newly recruited and trained, sent into the trenches without rifles and arms, ordered to take the discarded weapons of the killed and wounded and use them against the Germans.

NEXT MOVE OF DOOMED MAN

New York, June 21.—Mrs. Charles Becker had a lengthy talk with her husband in the death house at Sing Sing and came from the prison confident. She said that Becker is not preparing a lengthy report of his police experiences for Governor Whitman or anybody else. "The reason that he is not," Mrs. Becker said emphatically, "is that he has not any revelations to make." Mrs. Becker left the impression with her interviewers that an appeal will be made for commutation of sentence. She was not in a position to say just when her husband's counsel will present their plea at Albany.

VILLA IS TO SUBMIT HIS PEACE PLAN

Washington, June 21.—According to a dispatch from El Paso, the civil and military representatives of the Villa government will submit a plan for the pacification of Mexico to the Washington government, probably the latter part of this week. It is understood the plan has the approval of General Villa, that General Felipe Angeles is coming to Washington to represent the military and that Miguel Diaz Lombardo, foreign minister, will reach the border in a few days, en route to Washington to represent the conventionalist civil government.

Enrique C. Llorente, Washington representative of the Villa-Zapata government, said he had heard absolutely nothing of the movements of Angeles. The Carranza agency gave out a statement pointing out that Angeles probably never would return to Villa's standard. The statement was as follows:

"The Constitutionalist agency is informed that General Angeles and his staff arrived in Juarez, and it is reported that Angeles intends to take refuge in the United States. Part of his staff are in El Paso and part in Juarez, but, according to the message, all declare they will not return to the front. They are keeping themselves secluded from all except their intimate friends, and all admit that the recent defeat at Leon was a virtual annihilation of the Villista forces and that Villa's days are numbered."

Many officials seemed to take the view also that Angeles had left Villa because of personal differences which began shortly before the battle of Celaya, in which Villa lost the first important contest of his military career. He was without the services of Angeles then and rumors were current at the time of a personal disagreement.

With Angeles' move coming on the heels of the split between General Carranza and his commander-in-chief, General Obregon, some officials were encouraged to believe that out of the tangle might come a new alignment, comprising the best elements of the Carranza and Villa factions, forming an organization which might, if successful in dominating the situation, be accorded recognition by the United States.

Mr. Allen was absent on a trip to West Baden, Ind.

OLEOMARGARINE HAS COME BACK INTO LIMELIGHT

Washington, June 21.—Commissioner of Internal Revenue Osborn has discovered widespread violations of the oleomargarine law extending over the last thirteen years, which have caused an estimated loss of revenue to the government of $27,000,000, according to an announcement from the treasury department.

The investigation made by Commissioner Osborn, it is announced, has disclosed that since 1902 more than 200,000,000 pounds of colored oleomargarine have been manufactured and sold as the uncolored product or as butter without the payment of the federal tax of 10 cents a pound. The treasury statement expresses the opinion that the vigorous investigation made by Commissioner Osborn, together with the series of prosecutions undertaken by the department of justice, have had the effect of checking the frauds.

Because of the cleverness of those who perpetrated the frauds little accurate information has been available as to the amount of revenues lost by the government on this account.

One factor, which it is believed has worked to prevent the full enforcement of the law, is the sentiment which has prevailed in some localities that the tax is far too drastic upon the manufacture of an article of food regarded as entirely wholesome. In some quarters the tax has been viewed as a "protective tariff" levied for the benefit of the farmers and dairymen.

OVERCOME OBSTACLES

Rome, June 21.—Details of the capture by the Italians of Plava, on the Isonzo, and the surrounding heights, made public by the war office, show that in this battle, the first general engagement of the campaign, the Italians fought with extraordinary bravery in face of almost insuperable obstacles. Barbed wire entanglements, hidden batteries, natural defenses, were powerless to hold back the invaders, who swept the Austrians out of position after position and finally forced them to precipitate flight. The Austrians are said to have shown themselves apparently unable to guard against surprise attacks, and the Italian advance has gone on unchecked, while the Austrian losses have been tremendous. It is reported that Emperor Francis Joseph has relieved General Dankl and General Rohr of their commands on the Tyrolean front and has threatened the commander-in-chief, Archduke Eugene, with the same fate if he allows Goritz to fall into the hands of the enemy.

CHICAGO AVIATOR RISES 6,496 FEET

SUICIDES RATHER THAN SERVE TIME

Springfield, O., June 21.—Rather than serve a sentence in the work house, Mrs. Nora Holtz, nineteen, committed suicide by taking poison at the city prison, dying at the hospital.

FRENCH MAKE GOOD ADVANCE

Paris, June 21.—Another important gain by the French in the region to the north of Arras is announced in the official communique. After the capture of Le Fond-de-Buval the French delivered a new attack and succeeded in gaining an advance of one kilometer. The Germans made a desperate attempt to check the progress of the French troops, and after being forced to withdraw they continued to rain shells on their enemy's lines. Tank artillery duel in this region is still going on. Two lines of German trenches were captured on the heights of the Meuse, and further progress in Lorraine is also announced.

London, June 21.—Emperor William has taken supreme command of the Galician campaign, establishing his headquarters at Pless, in southeastern Galicia, as near the front as practicable. The Teutonic allies, after seven weeks battering across Galicia, during which the Russians have been thrown back more than 150 miles, are now close to Lemberg.

Never perhaps since before the battle of the Marne have the Germanic armies appeared so confident of success. Having failed in their original plan of crushing France and then turning to Russia, they have reversed the order of their strategy and now, judging by the expenditure of life and ammunition in Galicia, they have pinned their whole faith to so paralyzing the Russian army as to permit of the throwing of a tremendous weight of men and metal into the western theater, there either to break through the Franco-British line or force an interminable period of sanguinary warfare.

Meanwhile the German official communication records the further progress of the Austro-German forces toward Lemberg, both to the north and south of the city. It claims, as well, that the Russians have been cleared from parts of the Dniester to the south.

Russians Retreating.

Near Lemberg, says the Berlin war office, the Austro-Germans, after a stubborn encounter, captured a succession of Russian trenches extending along almost the entire length of a twenty-two miles front. Three towns between Rawa Ruska and Lemberg have been stormed and, according to the German announcement, the Russians have been thrown behind the high road leading from Rawa Ruska to Zolkiew. Zolkiew is less than twenty miles almost due north of Lemberg.

It is reported officially from Vienna that the Russians are in general retreat along the entire front, after having been forced out of their position on the Werczyca river, a short distance west of Lemberg.

The great question England and her allies are asking is whether Grand Duke Nicholas, commanding the Russian forces, can successfully emulate Joffre's tactics of last fall and check the Austro-Germans at the gates of Lemberg.

Whether Russia has sufficient ammunition to meet the present strain is a question which can not be answered in England, although the London papers say frankly that the shortage is acute. One of the papers characterizes the situation in Galicia as "Russia's supreme emergency," and public interest is centered in that theater, notwithstanding the hard fighting in progress along the western front. The sound of guns is audible at Lemberg, and possibly this week will see the culmination of one of the most interesting phases of the great war.

Tuesday, June 22—Christians vs. Presbyterians.

In former times when war was the chief business of mankind it used to be said that silver was the one essential shew to keep the thing going. It sometimes looks in Europe as though things most wanted, such as guns and shells and bullets, could not be had for money. However, in the long run "you can't beat money." That makes it interesting to know the national wealth of the countries involved or possibly to be involved in the world war. Estimates of the wealth of the principal nations, as gathered from the latest sources available at the present time, are as follows: United States, $187,000,000,000; Great Britain and Ireland, $85,000,000,000; Germany, $80,000,000,000; France, $65,000,000,000; Russia, $40,000,000,000; Austria-Hungary, $25,000,000,000; Italy, $20,000,000,000; Belgium, $9,000,000,000. These figures of national wealth are based upon the true valuation of real and personal property.

A mere schoolboy in the prairie country has proved that farming pays better than clerking if it is only done the right way. Last year this lad made a record which has just found its way into farming statistics. Or, a half acre he reaped a profit of $141 for a little less than one month's actual labor. Even if he lost a month's time by bad weather, sickness, etc., he still made big wages. It would not be wise for every ambitious boy to turn farmer, but way should be deterred by the cry of the croakers that "Farming doesn't pay."

The figures recently issued showing the wealth of the United States are significant. American money is now the soundest and most desirable in the world. Of perhaps greater significance is the fact that this wealth, amounting to $187,739,000,000 is almost twenty-five times as large as it was two generations ago. While our population was growing five times the wealth was growing twenty-five times. And there is no falling off in sight.

Another grievance due to the war is that Americans will be expected to tour the new battlefields after it's over and pay big tips to guides who were in the thick of it.

SWALLOWS $7,000
WORTH OF RADIUM

Rochester, N. Y., June 21.—James Cullen took $7,000 of radium in his grip and carried it in his interior for two days. He had been treated with radium for cancer of the lower jaw in Dr. Lee's hospital. The attending physician started to remove the radium tube, when Cullen became excited and swallowed it. It was recovered with a laxative.

A government bulletin recently issued shows that the American farm laborer is paid from four to six times the wages of his class in Europe. Well, he possibly and probably earns four to six times as much for his employer. Leaving out the relative difference in the market values of farm products here and in Europe, there is the question of methods of work. In most European countries women work in the fields, and where women work wages are low. But the European man laborer does not work like the American farmhand. In comparison American farm work is one continuous hustle, with longer hours and more physical wear and tear. Supply and demand regulate the price of farm labor, and the supply is often cut into by the demand for hands in the higher paid public and corporation work of construction, which in this era seems to be endless.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

To Relieve Choking.

Children are more liable than older persons to suffer from choking. Children choke from swallowing marbles, small toys and most of all from irregular shaped pieces of candy. In most cases of choking a quick slap on the back between the shoulders will usually set the candy free. It is best to hold the child's head down and forward a little before administering the slap on the back. If the foreign substance cannot be removed by this method of treatment the mother should introduce her finger into the child's mouth, moving the finger gently backward along the side of the mouth over the base of the tongue. With the finger tip on the side of the mouth she may be able to catch and lift up the foreign substance. The finger pushed gently back into the throat will not injure the soft structures, and it may excite vomiting, which will expel the object.

If a child chokes on a fish bone the finger may be used to bring it out. A few swallows of mashed potato, soft bread or crusts or liquids swallowed rapidly will carry the bone down the throat. The food also acts as a cover for the bone and keeps it from injuring the soft tissues. Fish bones are readily dissolved in the stomach.

Exporters of wheat from the Argentine ports ship about 5,000,000 bushels of wheat weekly, sometimes a little more and sometimes a little less, and the exports since Aug. 1, 1914, have been 30,000,000 bushels more than a year ago, but 40,000,000 bushels less than two years ago. India is beginning to get into the wheat export procession, having shipped 96,000 bushels in the week ending May 1, and 440,000 in the week ending May 8. Our exports were nearly 2,000,000 bushels less in the week of May 8 than in the previous week. In the southwest our wheat harvest is at hand or soon due. There is no present prospect of any serious shortage in the world's supply of wheat, but there is every indication that the United States wheat growers will market a surplus even larger than that of last year at good prices.

WILMINGTON WINS AGAIN; FANS SEE FAST EXHIBITION

The Wilmington Clintons scored another victory Sunday in their second game with the Athletics of the midsummer series of six games arranged a few weeks ago. The score was 2 to 0 and the game swift and exciting during every inning.

The game was played on the local grounds. The diamond and gardens were in prime condition and the weather ideal. Approximately 2,000 persons, far the largest crowd of the season, attended.

Cotterill pitched excellent ball but lost his own game. Wilmington got but two hits, each in a different inning, and scored through neither. Bases on balls, stealing and a wild throw by Cott to first gave the Clintons their tallies.

A strange feature of the game was the fact that one man, Frye, made both of Wilmington's scores and got his ticket to the first station each time on a walk. In fact Frye was walked three times out of four times up, and these three walks were all that Cotterill allowed during the game.

Frye scored in the first and ninth innings. He stole second each time, was advanced to third each time by sacrifice and came in home on a sacrifice when he made the first score. The second score he made when Cotterill threw Adams' grounder over Hagerty's head. The ball was recovered by Grandle, whose arm was not equal to the throw for home, and who threw to second instead.

Another odd fact was that the Clintons did not get a hit out of the diamond. Indeed the only ball they knocked out of the diamond was a foul to the left bleachers, which was speared in a sensational way by Noon when apparently right in the midst of the heads of the spectators. Wilmington's two hits were infield ground balls, the fielding of which was delayed.

The neatest little trick of the whole game was a delayed steal by Rhodes in the seventh. Rhodes had gained first base and was leading off several feet. Heironamus threw to Arthur too late to catch Rhodes. When Adams returned the ball to his pitcher Rhodes went down like a shot. Heironamus shot the ball to second but was too late to intercept Rhodes who arrived head first in a cloud of dust. Frye was peeved with the decision and in his wrath threw the ball to the ground. Rhodes then hit out for third. He was nailed at the third sack but made a good bid for it.

Another nice play was a double executed by Runnells unassisted.

NEW HOLLAND WINS PAIR FROM CHILLI.

The Chillicothe Maroons hit the dust twice in short order at New Holland, Sunday afternoon, when they met the Holland Giants and went down to defeat in a double-header; the first time the score board showed 6 to 0 in favor of the Giants, and the second game ended with the long end of 6 to 5.

Reno pitched for New Holland, in the first game, striking out eighteen men. Crowl pitched for Chillicothe. Both games were fast ones and 500 people were in attendance.

NEW MARTINSBURG TAKES BAINBRIDGE

The New Martinsburg Wallopers Sunday defeated the Bainbridge representative team in an exciting game at Martinsburg. The score was 8 to 4.

A home run by Haaga of Bainbridge and a sensational catch by Magee, Martinsburg's second baseman, were features. A good sized crowd attended. Featherlin and Boyer were the battery for New Martinsburg and Anderson, Kneisley and Budge for Bainbridge.

Loaf Bread in England.

It is perhaps worth recalling that the art of baking loaves of bread was introduced into Europe quite late in history. Flat cakes were baked even in the earliest times, but as late as the beginning of the nineteenth century loaf bread was comparatively unknown in many parts of the continent. In 1812, for instance, when an English captain ordered loaves to the value of $5 in Gothenburg the baker stipulated for payment in advance on the ground that he would never be able to sell them in the city if they were left on his hands. — London Spectator.

Canny Scot!

"I say, Sandy, mon," said Jock, handing back his friend's photograph, "when ye had those photos taken, why didna ye smile?"

"And those pictures costing me $2 a dozen!" replied Sandy. "Are ye crazy, mon?" — Woman's Home Companion.

It must be "America first," without so much as a mental reservation, else the loyalty given to this nation would not be pure and unadulterated. Without this unity of thought and allegiance among all the citizens of this nation the very foundations would be in danger, and if wreck should come to Europe the ruins would engulf all alike.
